Thursday, August 4, 1870. The Terms of Confederation Again

In the Montreal Witness of July 8, we find another abstract of the terms of Union between British Columbia and Canada. With few exceptions the summary of the Witness is the same as we have already published. The limit of population on which it is proposed that British Columbia shall draw annually, eighty cents per head, is fixed at 460,000 instead of 1,000,000. That difference, we presume, will not affect the vote on the question at present. Territorially speaking, we ought to be entitled to a million as our limit. The Globe's statement that we will get $35,000 per year, as a fixed subsidy, is confirmed. The maximum debt of the Colony is to be two millions of dollars. From this will be deducted our public debt, which is about $1,100,000, and on the balance Canada will pay us interest, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. The total amount of the subsidies, as we have before stated, will not exceed $165,000 per annum. It appears that this sum is given, literaly, in the language of the British American Act," for the support of our Government and Legislature. Canada will take a certain portion of revenue and return us $165,000 a year, as consideration, whether its receipts be a larger or smaller than the sum it will pay to this country. The concluding portion of the terms in the Witness, are as follows:

8th. The Government of the Dominion engages to guarantee the construction of a Canadian Pacific Railway, which shall connect with the Canadian railway system in West Canada, on the East, and have for its terminus a port on the Pacific coast in the West. The plans at the command of the Government indicate an expenditure of one hundred million dollars maximum, for the total construction. Offers are made to guarantee the construction by private capitalists in England, through Mr. Waddington, in consideration of receiving gold bonds, bearing interest at 6 per cent. guaranteed by Government, or a grant of land in one mile alternate sections, running to the rear a distance, on each side of the railroad, of 121 miles. The $100,000,000 is thus made up:—1st section of 2,060 miles in round figures, $75,000,000; 2nd section, through British Columbia, $18,-000,000; other sections to complete, $7,000,-000. These figures are official. 9th. The Dominion undertakes the reform and extension of the postal service at its own 10th, 11th and 12 guarantees certain steps towards the encouragement and protecti of fishing and trading and the increase of im-13th. Provides that the number of members representing the colony in the House of Commons shall be six instead of eight, and of Senators three instead of four.

14th. Arranges for a formal admission into the Union, the election of Speaker, and other steps which may be directed by Her Majesty in Council. 15th. Settles the Representative Government question and guarantees that the colony shall have the same form of Government as other Provinces of the Confederation.

Many other conditions are included but they are unimportant and do not come under any of the general heads under which I have clasified the foregoing.

the party who has proposed to construct the Victoria and Montreal Railway.

His terms for its construction of Mosers Habben & Co, and of the Members of the Committee.

July 18 T. H. LONG Har South Committee. His terms for its construction are $100,-000,000 in Canadian bonds, payable in BAYLEY'S HOTEL gold and drawing 6 per cent interest,or, according to the Witness, a grant of alternate sections of land one mile wide and twelve and a half miles deep, on each side of the road. We are inelined to think that the land grant will be in addition to the guaranteed gold bonds, rather than an equivalent for them. On Waddington's estimate of distance from Ottawa via Bute Inlet to Victoria, say 3,000 miles, the Railway Company would get 37,500 square miles, or 24,000,000 acres of land. To make the undertaking a success, it appears that Mr. Trutch went to England with Postmaster-General Campbell to get a guarantee from the Imperial Government. The Dock at Esquimalt is another question that is referred to England. There is a probability that the recent telegram stating that the Canadian guarantee bill had passed two readings in the House of Lords, may have something to do with both the Graving Dock and Railway. One feature in the above terms, that are more explicit than what we have yet published, is the clause with reference to the form of Government : we are to have Responsible Representative Government. What the other minor conditions may be, we are not informed. They possibly have reference to the delay in the extension of the Canadian tariff to this Colony, if the Legislature wish it to be delayed,—the day of the proclamation of union, the Lunatic Asylum, and some other minor matters. Our Legislative Council, says the Halifax Wilness, will be dissolved and our election held in October, and in December we will consider the Terms of Union. There is no doubt whatever that the Terms of Union published have been issued semi officially. We, however, who are the parties most concerned, have yet are the parties most concerned, have yet to learn from official sources what they are. It is rather a cowardly policy, to say the best of it : The elections are to come off in October, and from here to Kootenay six weeks will be allowed the country to consider the subject. Icz .- Let those who want Ice leave their orders at the Oyster Saloon, corner of Yates street and Waddington alley. New Advertisements.
